

Review of: "Re-calling Magical Thinking: Different, yet Connected Views on Magical Thinking"

Giorgia Nigri<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Free University "Maria Santissima Assunta"

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper explores innovative connections among various perspectives on magical thinking, presenting original insights that enrich the discourse. However, the use of the term 'bastard sister' might distract from the otherwise cohesive narrative. Additionally, the conclusion, though rich in content, could benefit from a more fluid structure by reducing the excessive use of colons, ensuring better alignment with the paper's overall flow.