

Review of: "A Review of the Processes and Procedures of Road Traffic Accident Mortality Data Collection in Zambia"

John Parkin<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> University of the West of England, Bristol

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

I have taken the time to look more closely at the revised manuscript. The authors have not addressed very many of the comments I made in my review of the initial paper. These comments required major revisions and re-working. Where the comments have been addressed, I think the changes made by the authors are minimal in nature. I am not particularly minded to simply repeat the comments I made previously. I am not sure where we go from here. I will, however, confirm that this paper is not, in its current state, ready for publication.