

Review of: "[Case Report] High Bifurcation and Anatomical Variation of the Brachial Artery"

Hemamalini Shetty<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> JSS Medical College, Mysore

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Its is a nice variation and very important variation in the course and termination of brachial artery.

Authors can mention the prevalence of high burfircation of brachial artery and the clinical importance in interventional procedures like coronary angiogram, creating AV fistula in upper limb for dialysis.