

Review of: "Assessment of Learner Satisfaction in Secondary School Education"

Armando Sánchez-Macías<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Universidad Autónoma de San Luis Potosí

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article addresses a topic that is of interest in educational sciences. However, it is not clear how the information collected in the focus groups contributes to the results. Also, although it is stated that there is a statistically significant relationship between the variables studied, the correlation is extremely low to consider it as a finding to take into account. I suggest a non-parametric type correlation to enrich the analysis and impact of your research. Congratulations on the investigation.