Review of: "Data Science using openAI: testing their new capabilities focused on data science"

Hugo Vega[1]

1 Universidad Nacional Mayor de San Marcos

Potential competing interests: The most important potential of this article is the approach linked to openIA latest API called coder interpreter and its applications on Data Science

The most important potential of this article is the approach linked to openAI's latest API called Coder Interpreter and its applications in Data Science.

The article is very interesting, well written, well-referenced, well-structured, and demonstrates the usefulness of the openAI API "Coder Interpreter" in Data Science solutions.

Best regards

Hugo Vega