This article is an interesting article as it has taken school children and adolescents as a group for investigation into the long COVID-19 Syndrome, the variables in this manuscript needs to be discussed in a bit more detail and the table captions need to be elaborated in table no 3 and table no 4. It will help the readers make sense of the tables better and understand the variables clearly rather than mentioning them as variable 1 ,variable 2 etc.

the reason for conducting and elaborating multiple statistical tests to eliminate bias is good but does not need so much elaboration in my understanding a simple sentence is enough to explain it.
