

Review of: "New Terms for the Educators' Digital Lexicon"

Potential competing interests: I was co-authoring an earlier research paper (Felszeghy et al., <https://doi.org/10.1186/s12909-019-1701-0>) with the authors otherwise I declare that I have no competing interests in this review.

A fresh, well-conducted review, and a very well-written paper. I particularly liked the great care taken by the authors to ensure that the quality of the material presented was not compromised, and the triangulation of their new idea. They underscore the fact that, if technology is to be used in healthcare education, it does not merely need to exist, but needs to be used properly and monitored carefully. And I truly appreciate the reference you gave on one of our educational papers.
