The article is related to general Information Technology. The authors must better clarify what is call as “tertiary institutions”. Are they only educational ones?

Also the authors must clarify why the article mention Nigeria as a kind of case study. In fact, the discussion of IT, IoT etc and its impact on learning is a international and broader one.

The achieved literature review should be better explained regarding methodology approach. The authors would easily find out a more international approach and recent articles through a deeper Systematic Literature Review.

And finally the authors need to show what are the innovation and new topics related to other authors that they found out on their theoretical research.

My thoughts are that the article need many improvements so as to be ready to be accept for publishing.
