An interesting topic is very well addressed in this article in the context of the 17 pillars of sustainable development included in the 2030 Agenda.

Academic libraries have an essential role in the quality education of future specialists who will have to implement these goals in all sectors.

I congratulate the author for the design of the research, but especially for the use of bibliometric analysis by using WOSviewer to select the right words.

I suggest the author read the article "Contribution of Academic Libraries to the Goals of Sustainable Development," by author Mashroofa, M. M..
