The work is relevant, the theme is very valid and current. The literature review is dense and well explained with relevant information.

Regarding the summary, I suggest improving the conclusions, as it does not demonstrate the full complexity of the work.

The work methodology is well exemplified, allowing other works to also make use of the study carried out. The flowchart is succinct, however, the supported text allows the step-by-step analysis carried out by the authors.

The figures need to be improved and clearer, especially in relation to the spatiality of the biomes, ecosystems and identified values. There is no clarity in the figures and visualization interconnection for the reader.

The discussion highlights several details and allows the reader to highlight the authors' notes and all the different analyzes carried out between the verified values.
