

Review of: "Prevalence of Buruli Ulcer Among Residents in Jasikan Municipality: A Cross-Sectional Study"

Swati Verma<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Hackensack Meridian Health

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

I commend the authors for their meticulous and insightful study, "Prevalence of Buruli Ulcer Among Residents in Jasikan Municipality: A Cross-Sectional Study." The research demonstrates a commendable commitment to public health, providing valuable insights into the prevalence of Buruli Ulcer in the Jasikan Municipality. The thoroughness of the cross-sectional study design is evident, showcasing a robust methodology that enhances the credibility of the findings. The data collection and analysis procedures are well-detailed, contributing to the transparency and reproducibility of the study. Furthermore, the article effectively addresses the significance of the research in the context of public health, shedding light on a pertinent issue that warrants attention. Overall, this manuscript makes a substantial contribution to the existing body of knowledge on Buruli Ulcer, and I recommend its approval for publication based on its scientific rigor and societal relevance.