

Review of: "Quality of Life and Its Predictor Factors Among Iranian Gastrointestinal Cancer Survivors"

omid Massah<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> University of Social Welfare and Rehabilitation Sciences

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Thanks for inviting me to review this article. I read the article; it is a good article.

The introduction explains the problem well, and the reasons for the need to study are mentioned. The paper provides a comprehensive and detailed description of the methods used for research design and conduction and data collection & analysis. The study has a large enough sample size of participants, providing a more robust analysis. The results of the study show the main variables and predictor factors of QOL, which can have an effective role for a better life and increasing the patients' survival. The paper acknowledges the limitations of the study and provides suggestions for future research, demonstrating a critical and reflective approach.