

Review of: "Efficacy of Anogeissus leiocarpus as a Therapeutic Agent for Some Pathogenic Bacteria"

Dr Muhammad Mudassar Shahzad

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Overall, this is a good paper; there is a need to correct some grammatical mistakes and errors in the format of the MS.

There is a need to address the future aspects of your study.

1. Many grammatical and formatting mistakes are present.
 2. Mention references to tables/pictures in the main file where needed.
 3. Check the scientific names that are present in the thesis but are not written as per standards. Scientific names should be italicized and as per the rules of Binomial Nomenclature in the whole file.
 4. Check the formation of cited references in the whole file that do not meet the formatting criteria.
 5. Some of the pages are blank. Please check them.
 6. Use active voice sentences instead of passive voice.
 7. There are some extra spaces in tables. Also, mention abbreviations in footnotes.
-
1. Recheck the bibliography and citations in the text.
 2. Check the "et al."; somewhere it is written in italics and on other sides in non-italics. In some sentences, there is no proper space/., as per the format.
 3. Many references are too old; use updated ones.
 4. Tables are not presented well. Please recheck the presentation of all tables and graphs.

A reference/bibliography is missing.