

Review of: "Obesity, Dyslipidemia and other Risks Factors for Metabolic Syndrome among Indigenous Black African Secondary School Students in Lagos, Nigeria"

Carmen Virgen¹

¹ Universidad de Guadalajara

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The presented manuscript seems to me to be of important relevance to current public health problems. The population studied is relevant, given that, as the same authors refer, the pediatric population has been little studied and the parameters of the metabolic syndrome in them are unknown. Its results would be quite useful in proposing guidelines for the diagnosis of the disease in children and adolescents. The discussion and conclusion of the manuscript seemed totally timely and accurate to me.