The article addresses an important topic, which is that of Education for Sustainable Development. Thus, it can be valuable if it is better structured. It needs a literature review to help situate the reader within the context of the study. There is a summary literature review, but it is located within the discussion section. The methods section contains some information that is unnecessary (about Likert scales, for example), but lacks other information that is needed to understand how the study was carried out. More information is necessary. Why were the respondents selected? What was their relationship to the researchers? What questions were they asked? How was the readability test implemented?

Hopefully, the authors will develop the article further, as it can provide valuable information on an important topic.
