

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Unspecified juvenile idiopathic arthritis

INSERM

Source

INSERM. (1999). Orphanet: an online rare disease and orphan drug data base.

Unspecified juvenile idiopathic arthritis. ORPHA:91140

Unspecified juvenile idiopathic arthritis is a rare, pediatric, rheumatologic disease, a subtype of juvenile idiopathic arthritis (JIA) characterized by arthritis of an unknown cause that persists for at least 6 weeks, and does not fulfill the criteria for any of the other JIA subtypes, or fulfills criteria for more than one of the other subtypes.