

Review of: "Mobile Phone Recycling and Stockpiling Behaviour in the UAE: A Gender and Age Study"

Karishma Chaudhary

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Article highlights the intention of mobile phone users to recycle their devices based on demographic factors. Author has done good work in designing the survey and collecting responses. Addition of new factors like data security and perceived benefits is essential to study recycling behavior as people are very much concerned about data and salvage/resale value of the product. Author can improve on conclusion part by elaborate more on managerial implications and definind role of the stakeholders