Very well written. I love the theoretical lens here as well. Every thing was described well and easy to understand. I would like to see a conclusion at the end, or a summary. Also, there was no methods section, which I am okay with since this is more of a directed essay, but I still do prefer traditional headings to follow. I like Introduction and Discussion and I definitely appreciate a good conclusion, since I often review those when I am reading peer-reviewed papers. I would suggest a title change- Developing or Using instead of Toward?
