

Review of: "Enhancing Veterinary Services for Smallholder Farmers in Zimbabwe: A Comprehensive Literature Review"

Tryphina Dube Takaza

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

I would like to congratulate the authors for reviewing the paper that depicts a picture of problems common to smallholder farmers in the farming sector. However, there is need for Veterinary services to be complemented by other stakeholders that are into livestock production, nutrition and breeding aspects.

Furthermore, the paper lacks methodology section that clearly articulates the research approach. Again the policy issues need to be addressed that promote the participation of smallholder livestock farmers in disease prevention.