

Review of: "Saltwater Intrusion in Coastal Aquifers: A Comprehensive Review and Case Studies from Egypt"

S. M. Mirdamadi

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article is very well written; each section is explained using concise but well-researched sources. In particular, bringing in figures and diagrams helps to better understand the content and words. The introduction is very clear, simple, and understandable, so everyone can benefit from its information. The issue of water in these areas is very complex and vital because many factors are involved, and this article tried to explain some of the major factors. Bringing in some examples from different parts of Egypt helped to understand this issue. The skill and knowledge of the researchers can be appreciated. I recommend accepting this article.