Review of: "Technological Unemployment, Skill Mismatch and the Future of Higher Education in Post-Pandemic Nigeria"

Cristina Pulido-Montes

1 Universidad de Valencia

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This is a high-quality essay, in which a rich discussion is raised about a problem that has been little addressed. Jobs are usually developed that, on the contrary, show the benefits of the technological job market. The Nigerian context is a case study, which could be expanded later, in future research through interviews. The latest UNESCO report on Technologies and Education has been published, which can be consulted to add some relevant data to the investigation. Your inquiry is suggested.