1. The abstract needs to be rewritten and should include some practical values.
3. Keywords should be arranged alphabetically.
4. The introduction needs to be rewritten and should include a review of previous literature, comparing your current work with other studies, particularly regarding heterocyclic compounds and Benzimidazole. You can benefit from some references:

5. The ligand should be named in the preparation method, but in the rest of the manuscript, please use the abbreviation.
7. Please list all the chemicals, their purity, and the manufacturing companies.
10. Please add a new section discussing the proposed structures of the complexes and the ligand, indicating whether it is charged or not, how this was proven, and what the coordination number is.
