

Review of "Reproducible research using minimalist plain text tools"

Giorgio Bedogni¹

¹ Fondazione Italiana Fegato ONLUS

Disclaimer: I am a Qeios co-founder.

Dear Arindam,

thank you for this very interesting piece on minimalist text tools.

I share most of your feelings, as I use my text editor for nearly everything, from programming to writing essays.

(Qeios may soon change that, because I can now type my research paper directly on it, without the need of preliminary text editing...)

Here at Qeios, we have no doubt that sharing data and code is central to the enterprise of making Science truly Open.

I am thus very pleased to announce that you and all the Qeios community have now the possibility to upload on Qeios computer code, data and other objects you repute to be useful to promote Open Science.

Giorgio