Review of: "Efficient Management of Information Communication Technology Resources in an Organisation"

Abdullah Salamai[1]

1 Jazan University

The following is the list of issues that needs to be fixed:

- Revision abstract section to improve your work

- Clarity of the presentation needs to improve by clearly specifying the objectives, focus, and motivation of the Paper.

- Recent Research: More recent references need to be added and discussed in the literature section and background information about existing approaches in the context of the work addressed in this paper.

- Open issues, limitations of the existing approaches, or prevalent trends/issues can be elucidated.

- Add the contents in the abstract of the chapter and highlight the impact of the proposed work.

- The authors should add the case study and its results.

- discussions should be rewritten to summarize the findings/significance of the work.

- Some minor language editing may be needed. The author should fix the language issues in the manuscript

- All the notations and abbreviations should be checked carefully.

- Future scope should be demonstrated.

- The authors should list our identified research gaps and contribution of the work

- in the text some paragraph is too long, it's better to split them into two paragraphs, and each paragraph focuses on a main area or point.

- Conclusion needs to be explained mentioning the future scope of the idea.

- It is suggested that references should be numbered and cited consecutively.