

Review of: "Expanding Participatory Epidemiology to Explore Community Perceptions of Human and Livestock Diseases among Pastoralists in Turkana County, Kenya"

Onyinye Agina¹

¹ University of Nigeria

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The authors showed that Pastoralists in Kenya are at risk of zoonotic diseases and used a commendable low-cost approach (Participatory epidemiology) to empower local communities to actively participate in disease control and prevention initiatives.

The manuscript was properly written and no English editing is required. However, I made two simple corrections on page 3 only.