First of all, thank you for your offer of review. A good topic is discussed in the article, but I could not understand the purpose of writing the article and the result achieved. The contribution of the article to the field should be clarified. Authors are required to discuss different studies in the literature and add them to the conclusion. I suggest that they answer the question of why cross-country comparisons are made in the study. What are the recommendations for new studies should be stated in the conclusion section. The article is unfinished as it stands. Therefore, there is a need for revision and development, best regards
