

Review of: "Analytical Study and Amelioration of Plastic Pavement Material Quality"

Irena Zivkovic¹

¹ University of Belgrade

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The idea is good and completely in line with the use of recycled material for mass application. The drawback of the research is that there is no data on the influence of the ambient temperature on the mechanical properties of the particle-reinforced composites. These data could significantly change the conclusions. In particular, the glass transition temperatures of the polymer materials (PET and PP) used for the matrices must be taken into account.