

Peer Review

Review of: "Reproductive Health Problems Among Women in Selected Terai Districts of Nepal: A Critical Medico-Legal Assessment"

Yamuna Marasini¹

1. Public Health, Pokhara University, Nepal

This study is one of the most relevant and impactful pieces of research conducted in the terai districts of Nepal, as many women in this region face these problems and suffer from a disease. Your hard work in gathering such information from this community is highly commendable, considering the challenges involved. I have thoroughly reviewed this paper and found a few minor corrections that I believe will enhance its quality. Please make the necessary adjustments.

Methodology:

1. Sample size: please write in the past tense.
2. Please clearly state the Inclusion and Exclusion criteria for the participants.
3. Sampling Techniques: why did you use purposive sampling for participant selection?
4. Data collection technique: You have only mentioned the quantitative data collection; please also briefly describe the qualitative techniques.
5. Please briefly describe the reliability and validity of the study tools.
6. Data analysis and management: Please briefly describe the software and technique used for qualitative data analysis and management.
7. Please also mention the details of the informed consent and ethical process at the local level.

Findings:

1. Please highlight only the most important and relevant results and findings.

Declarations

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.