

Review of: "Enhancing Cocoa Crop Resilience in Ghana: The Application of Convolutional Neural Networks for Early Detection of Disease and Pest Infestations"

Jaganathan Indra¹

¹ KRP Institute of Engineering College

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper is grammatically well-composed and addresses the real-time problems of the farmers. However, it requires clarity on the work proposed.

Novelty of the work to be elaborated

Recent references to be included

Comparing the results with the previous works

Explanation of the CNN details

Figures and tables to be included

Inference from the results to be included