

Review of: "Visualization of Home Security Sensor System Based on IoT Server"

Shamsul Fakhar¹

¹ Universiti Teknikal Malaysia Melaka

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Clearly highlight the contribution of your work. Begin with a concise statement of your contribution, emphasize key findings, and provide a strong rationale for its significance.

To enhance clarity for readers, ensure that the entire document, including all parts originally in Indonesian language, is translated and presented in English. By providing a consistent language throughout the document, you enable a broader audience to understand and engage with your work effectively.

Provide a synthesis of information in the literature review. Rather than presenting sources like hardware datasheets as isolated pieces of information, aim to synthesize the findings, concepts, and theories discussed in the literature. Identify common themes, divergent opinions, and unresolved debates.

Include recent publications to demonstrate that you are up-to-date with the current state of research in your field. This shows that your work is contributing to the most recent developments.

Avoid blurry or unclear diagrams. Use high-resolution images, legible text, adequate labeling, appropriate colors and contrast, and include a legend or key. Provide a clear caption and thorough explanation of the diagram's content.