

Review of: "Reducing non-revenue water in Egypt using GIS"

Syed Adil Mizan¹

¹ International Water Management Institute

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

I reviewed the article and found it very interesting. It contains crucial steps to manage the unaccounted water and generate revenue from it. There are a few points I would like to raise as some of the data sources are not clear whether they were collected from field surveys or taken from reports. Secondly, your pilot area figure does not have a scale, and the author did not mention the grid size either.

Overall, the article is fine for publication after the suggested modifications.