

Review of: "A Literature Review on the Levels of Toxic Metals/Metalloids in Meat and Meat Products in Asian Countries: Human Health Risks"

Martin Patrick<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Unité Transformations & Agorssources, Béthune, France, Artois University, Arras, France

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Why was the author interested in and limited to Asian countries? Is this the only place on the planet where there is this type of problem? This should be better introduced and explained in the introduction.

On what basis did the author choose the "pollutants" cited in the article?

The analytical part is not useful in the body of the article; the author can simply list some method references.

The country listing needs to be reworked; it is absolutely necessary that we have discussions and/or comments by comparisons. In this article, we just have a listing by country, and why the choice of these countries?

The discussion part must be developed and be developed with a critical mind.

It is also essential to dissociate discussions and conclusions.

I therefore propose major revisions as part of a resubmission before any re-evaluations of this article.