

Review of: "Weathering changes – livelihood adaptation to weather shocks in rural India by disadvantaged social groups"

Tien D. N. Ho

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Thank you for your hard work,

Please carefully consider all comments below for improving the paper:

Since the structure of this paper is messy, which does not follow any journal's style. I suggest that author should restructure your paper for resubmission.

- Abstract: Please summarize the methodology used in this paper.
- Please use the latest research and reduce the use of very outdated research before 2015.
- Research questions: This section should be briefly present in the introduction section.
- Please separate the introduction section and the literature review section.
- The data section should be included in the methodology section and author need to present the origin of the data only. In other words, this is the way author collect or extract the data. Other issues should be moved to other sections (e.g. Figures 1-6, Table 1).
- Conclusion: In this section, please summarize what author has done, highlight the key results, and provide policy implication. No Table or reference used in this section.
-