This is an insightful research study, but the authors will need to do more work on the body of literature, justify the basics for the study population, and explain why a 1% significance level was used.

The organization of the objectives and the research questions should be revisited so that questions can be eliminated or incorporated as objectives.

The authors need to cite more recent work in the introduction and literature review.

There are no results presented for the interviews performed, which implies the research was quantitative.

More emphasis should be placed on the discussion to clarify the purpose of the study and help present future studies.

The conclusion should clearly state the study limitations that will support future studies.

The citation style needs to be adjusted to have consistency throughout the manuscript.

Overall, this is good work that needs so much redesign to align properly with the aim and objectives of the study.
