The study appears to have a good idea; however, the presentation diminishes its overall quality to some extent.

1. English needs to be improved.
2. The pictures and tables should be presented in a more professional way.
3. More details about the methodology are needed for better understanding.
4. The conclusion should focus more on the study's results, as it currently discusses general statements about the topic.
5. The author should consistently use the symbol % instead of the word "percent" in the manuscript.
