

Review of: "Rethinking sanctification from Jacobus Arminius' point of view and its implication in Christian daily life"

Pablo Blanco<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Universidad de Navarra

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The text does not present the purpose of the research very clearly. I would suggest this in the first place:

- a stylistic revision of the text
- a clearer structure, in accordance with the intention of the study.
- a more detailed and orderly explanation of the ideas set out therein
- a confessional statement, so that the perspective from which the author is speaking can be appreciated
- avoidance of repetition and gradation of the information provided
- the conclusions are poor and should reflect the fruit of the research carried out.
- enrich the bibliography, also with more current studies.

I think it is a good opportunity to rewrite slowly and more clearly the proposed work, with some interesting points.