First I would like to congratulate the author for this great article. The results section is very interesting to read and the topic of the research is highly relevant. I am going to make some suggestions:

-The method section is very detailed, but I have missed in the inclusion and exclusion criteria the publication dates of the selected documents of the sample. Though in the result section it is indirectly shown that the sample was composed by 196 documents, I think that including in the method section how many documents had the analysed sample would enrich the method section. It would be good also to include a reference to the PRISMA methodology (<http://www.prisma-statement.org/?AspxAutoDetectCookieSupport=1>)

Kind regards.
