

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Endocervical Adenocarcinoma, Usual Type

National Cancer Institute

Source

National Cancer Institute. Endocervical Adenocarcinoma, Usual Type. NCI Thesaurus. Code C127907.

An adenocarcinoma that arises from the endocervix. It is the most common type of endocervical adenocarcinoma. The neoplastic epithelium shows a pseudostratified architecture and the malignant cells have enlarged, elongated, and hyperchromatic nuclei.