Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article looks interesting, but the authors must fix the following before it is accepted for publication:

1. The ambivalence showing why the manuscript is not shown. This is a weakness of the paper, making contextualization difficult.
2. The research issue is weak. It has to be sharpened with relevant statistics showing the negative externalities of the situation in Ethiopia already.
3. The literature requires refinement, where similarities and differences from previous research are shown. This will then provide a context for the value addition the manuscript is bringing to the fora.
4. Discussions with extant literature are not sufficient, and therefore, reasonable conclusions would be difficult to reach.
5. I recommend a revision before acceptance.
