

Review of: "The anti-staphylococcal activity of probiotic-contain gelatin and whey coatings on processed chicken breast"

Fernando Reinoldo Scremin

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The manuscript at first seems adequate. It presents a well-defined structure of its sections, and the data was adequately statistically evaluated.

I just need a more in-depth discussion to describe how the coatings appear on the surface (thickness/chemical interactions). This information could encourage more appropriate discussions.