There appear to have been a number of prior evaluations mentioning how the precise technical parts need to be improved. My first worry is the lack of a function for supplying TBP after research questions, which leaves me wondering whether the authors wished to reinforce their thinking about the present study's problem statement or the method they employed to approach the study. The second point is that there appears to be a discrepancy between the design in the method section, where the authors only addressed the posttest, and the findings, where the author also supplied the pretest mean.
