Thanks to the author for undertaking this study. The study is unique in nature and uses qualitative research design. However, the author may provide a brief justification on why this study is carried out in the particular study area, and how the results can be useful for the broader global community. It is important to take care of referencing as well, for example, the Miles and Huberman's interactive model needs a citation when referred. I wish to read a revised edition once posted. Thank you.
