Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The documentation lacks a comprehensive explanation of the steps involved in deploying WordPress within Docker. A detailed guide is necessary for readers to grasp the process effectively.

The comparison of this method with alternative approaches is missing from the discussion. Providing insights into its advantages would allow readers to understand its benefits better.

Although the scalability of WordPress in Docker is mentioned, no empirical data is presented to support this claim. Including specific numbers or metrics would enhance the credibility of their argument.
