Dear authors, you chose an interesting subject; however, still, there are some improvements that need to be done before publishing this article. 1. Reviewing the literature is not enough. There is much recent relevant research on this topic newly published. 2. The references are quite old for this research. Many new research studies have been published in this field that will help to better understand the goals of this research. 3. In the conclusion, the goals are not clearly mentioned to guide the reader as to which results are related to which goal. Overall, you have done a good job and provided good information. Good luck.
