

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Theca steroid-producing cell malignant tumor of ovary, not further specified

INSERM

Source

INSERM. (1999). Orphanet: an online rare disease and orphan drug data base. Theca steroid-producing cell malignant tumor of ovary, not further specified. ORPHA:99917

Malignant steroid cell tumor of the ovary, not otherwise specified is a rare malignant sex cord stromal tumor of ovary (see this term) of unknown histological lineage, occurring in adult women, characterized, in most cases, by manifestations of androgen excess (hirsutism, hair loss, amenorrhea, or oligomenorrhea) and, occasionally, Cushing syndrome (see this term).