

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Very Low-Density Lipoprotein Receptor

National Cancer Institute

Source

National Cancer Institute. Very Low-Density Lipoprotein Receptor. NCI Thesaurus. Code C115015.

Very low-density lipoprotein receptor (873 aa, ~96 kDa) is encoded by the human VLDLR gene. This protein plays a role in the modulation of both reeling signaling and lipoprotein endocytosis.