The present topic "A DEEPER LOOK AT THE ORIGIN AND EVOLUTION OF THE SOCIAL WORK PROFESSION" is very interesting and gives attention to Social Work from its origin to the 21st century in the developed and developing countries of the world. It offers an insightful exploration of understanding social work from the time of Buddha to the origin of Professional Social Work Education. But the author makes his paper like a historical and geographical journey rather than a qualitative study. It is the history and evolution of Social Work.

The subject matter of the article can be best expressed in a thesis as it covers a very vast study from the development of social work from its beginning to the early 21st century in India, China, Europe, and Britain. The conclusion needs to be improved and should highlight the contribution of countries to the field of Social Work in the 21st century.

The article does a great job of outlining new approaches to Social Work.

Thanks for the opportunity to review the article, and good luck with the publication.
