Review of: "From International to Subnational: A Contribution to the Insertion of Subnational Governments in Northeastern Brazil in the Internationalization of Public Policies."

Evelyn Garwe

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Article reviewed:

From International to Subnational: A Contribution to the Insertion of Subnational Governments in Northeastern Brazil in the Internationalization of Public Policies.

Strengths: The article contains very important information from a well-planned research process.

Gaps: The article reads as if it was translated directly from another language into English. This poses a problem in that some statements do not flow through leaving the reader wondering what the author(S) wanted to communicate.