

Review of: "Fishing Rods for Magic: Theatre Forum Tools to Support Primary School Students' Active Engagement in Computer-Supported Collaborative Storytelling"

Verónica Espinoza-Celi¹

¹ Universidad Técnica Particular de Loja

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This article needs a better organization of ideas, it is important to follow the regular articles and include the adequate information for each section. For the abstract, try to include more information about the participants and the main conclusion of the study. This will provide a clearer overview of the research and its findings.

For the literature review, consider reorganizing the first paragraph of the "Creative storytelling" section to improve the flow of information. You could start by discussing innovative classes and then transition to inclusive education in a more cohesive manner.

As well, I invited you to consider the topic of this article since you this highlights the inclusive education.