

Review of: "Neuropsychiatric and Social Consequences of Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder in Females"

Azam Mansourzadeh

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

I read it and I really enjoyed it. The subject is really valuable, because the feeling of shame, and missing opportunities, about these experiences, can sometimes be devastating, especially for women. Then I can say this article is very accurate as a person with ADD experience and it can be the starting of a new approach for helping females that suffer from ADHD and ADD. In my opinion, putting a headline for every part can be useful for better understanding.

The article will be more comprehensive if a comparison between adults and children is mentioned. More explanation of specific symptoms as well as treatment can be useful for readers.